

ALMA STUDENT FROM RUSSIA

IN ARMY CAMPED ON BANKS OF RIVER FROM WHICH CITY'S NAME WAS PROCURED.

That the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. did not wage a vain campaign when they made their drive for funds for a scholarship for a foreign student last winter was demonstrated when the recipient of that scholarship arrived last Wednesday. Alexander Dawyloff, which is the young man's name, is a former Russian citizen of days of the Czar's regime, dweller in a city under the Bolshevik control, later member in the Russian army fighting against the Reds, finally a messenger and interpreter for the English army and in service on H. M. S. Destroyer Smyrna. Three months ago arrived in New York City under the care of the Russian Christian Students Committee and now, due to the generosity of last year's students and of the College is a student at Alma. Such in brief is the history of Alma's newest and most interesting Freshman.

"Al" as he is already known to the denizens of Pioneer Hall, was at one time son of the Governor of Kiev Province at a time when the "Little Father" ruled the land of the Northern Bear, and also was a student in a Russian "Gymnasium." The vicissitudes of war left Mr. Dawyloff in Kiev nine months while the Bolsheviks ruled the city. His experiences under their rule were many. He finally escaped to the Crimea where General Wrangel was disputing the ascendancy of Lenin and Trotsky with a "White" Russian army. Serving in this force until sickness compelled his discharge Al finally reached Constantinople in the service of the English. Our foreign student's knowledge of German and Russian as well as French and English made him valuable as an interpreter and messenger until finally he took service with the English on board the destroyer "Smyrna" then operating in eastern waters. Dawyloff's mother and sister were in this country so his eventual arrival in New York meant a happy family reunion. Thus it can be seen that our guest has had an eventful career for the last few years and may well be thought to be ready to settle down for four uneventful years in college.

An interesting incident in connection with Mr. Dawyloff's stay with us is that while engaged in the Crimea he was at one time encamped on the banks of the river Alma and stayed at a little town in that region by the name of Alma. It will be remembered that our own city of Alma received its name from the battle of the river Alma during the war of the Crimea.

It will be remembered that the College gave half and the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. the other half of the amount necessary to raise this scholarship for a truly missionary undertaking, and it is to be hoped that when the appeal is made again this December the College may do as well or better.

Ruggles Company To Start Soon

Remodeling operations at the Saginaw Shipbuilding Co. plant to transform it into a modern motor truck plant, now under way by the Ruggles Motor Truck Co., which recently acquired the property, are progressing rapidly, and according to announcement of Vice-President Julius B. Kirby the plant will be ready for production by October 1.

E. W. Ruggles, president and general manager of the Ruggles company, who was former head of the Republic, has brought a number of men who were on his staff to Saginaw with him. Among them are E. L. Smith, former secretary of the new concern; C. D. Smith, assistant superintendent of the Republic, who is factory superintendent of the Ruggles; G. R. Wilbur, purchasing agent of the company, who occupied the same office with the Republic; George Ogden, Alfred Boone and John Bridewell, who were superintendent of service, engineer and assistant engineer, respectively, of the Republic and occupy those positions with the Ruggles; C. R. Carr, eastern sales manager of the Republic, and general sales manager of the Ruggles; and T. M. House, general sales manager for the Republic and western manager for the Ruggles.

Frosh Are Defeated In the Class Rush

The "huge streaming banner" of the Class of '24 flaunted defiantly from a pole on Davis Field Friday morning. The Frosh with their faces daubed with black war paint, were on hand early. A large crowd gathered to witness the fray, and the first-year girls kept up a continuous cheer for their boys at the front. A few minutes before six o'clock the Sophs arrived and took their position. Referee Campbell broke the armistice and the Frosh rushed for the pole. The force of the onslaught nearly crushed the Sophomore's defense, but they quickly rallied and the fight was on. Time and again a Frosh would leap over the sweating mass and start up the pole, only to be pulled down by the nose or eyelashes, whichever happened to be handiest. When five minutes were up, both sides were tired out, but were still determined. At the end of eight minutes their tongues were hanging out. The Sophs acted as though they didn't care whether they kept the flag or not, and the Frosh seemed to have decided that they didn't want the rag anyway. The flag was still there when time was called. It was a good fight, and there were no slackers. Any one who didn't witness the rush can hear it rehearsed three times a day at Pioneer Hall for the next six weeks.

Children To Learn Correct Food Habits

East Lansing, Mich., Sept. 22.—Two prevalent malnutrition among Michigan school children is the target of a special campaign being launched by the home economics section of the Michigan Agricultural College extension service. A special series of Nutrition Lessons has been prepared and will be distributed to the schools of the state, especially in rural communities.

The lessons, which set forth the fundamental principles of correct food habits, will cover everything from the size of meals which should be eaten to the correct balancing of "rations." The first lesson deals with milk and its value in human diet, especially for children.

The campaign is said to be in the nature of follow-up work for the educational nutrition work which has been carried on by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and State Agricultural College specialists for several years. The work in Michigan is to be handled under the supervision of Miss Muriel Hopkins, nutrition specialist with the extension division at M. A. C. County agricultural agents will cooperate with rural school teachers in distributing the material to the class rooms.

WHERE FROGS ARE CHICKENS

Tariff Laws of the United States Say They Are Same and Alike "in Three Counts."

To one not versed in tariff law, or familiar with the devious and tortuous channels of reasoning followed only by customs legal luminaries, some of the decisions at first appear to be rather odd. Frogs have become chickens for tariff purposes, venison has been held to be beef and live snails have been held to be non-manufactured articles, remarks the San Francisco Chronicle.

Reason begins to totter on its throne and completely tumbles off when one learns that a firebrick weighing under five pounds is a firebrick weighing over five pounds. Reason, however, can pick up its scepter and climb back to its easy chair with a sigh of relief after reading a wonderful paragraph in the law known as the stillitude clause. If an article is not provided for, either by name or material, and has one of four characteristics of an article that is provided for, it takes the same rate of duty. If the homeless article resembles any other article either in material, quality, texture or in use to which it may be applied it becomes that article for tariff purposes. Frog meat is similar to the white meat of chicken in three counts, venison scores on one for the reason that both venison and beef are eaten and firebricks weighing under five pounds are used in exactly the same manner as those weighing over five pounds.

IRELAND UNDER ALIEN RULE

Power of the Danes Broken by Brian Boru in 1014—Normans Became Amalgamated.

About 800 A. D., the pagan hosts of the Northmen and Danes fell on Ireland with fierce destruction. After a century of destruction, Irish kings led their people in a succession of wars, for the deliverance of their country, and Brian Boru, or Brian Boru (926-1014), king of Munster, by his great victory in the battle of Clontarf, on April 23, 1014, finally broke the power of the Danes in Ireland. In 1171 Ireland was invaded by the Normans from England, in the time of Henry II, and its conquest began. "In Ireland," to quote the words of Prof. Edward A. Freeman (1823-1892) "the Norman was more purely a conqueror than anywhere else, but in Ireland his power of adaptation caused him to sink in a way in which he sank nowhere else. While some of the Norman settlers in Ireland went to swell the mass of the English of the Pale, others threw in their lot with the native Irish, and became, in the well-known saying, "more Irish than the Irish themselves."—Detroit News.

Religion of Good Citizenship.
"In China there existed in the past, and there are evidences that it is coming to life again, the religion of good citizenship," says a writer in Asia Magazine. "That is to say, the Chinese theory is that a man does not need to feel the need of physical force to protect himself; he has seldom the need even to call in and use the physical force of the policeman—of the state—to protect him. A man in China is supposed to be protected by the sense of justice of his neighbor; he is protected by the readiness of his fellowmen to obey the sense of moral obligation. The ideal of Chinese civilization, therefore, is that a man can not feel the need of using physical force to protect himself because he is sure that right and justice is recognized by all his neighbors as a force higher than physical force, and that moral obligation as recognized by everybody is something that must be obeyed."

Ground Must Be Hollow.

In Lassen county, California, is a spot called Dry lake, which is in reality almost an arid plain, with some alkali scattered here and there over it, and its area is two and a half by four miles. On one side are the Pit River mountains and on another are big pine woods, while to the west are the famous lava beds, in which the Indians hid during that last great California struggle with the savages. A winding road leads up from the valley below into the curious basin.

If a horse walks on this road anywhere, even two or three miles outside the border of the Dry lake, he can be heard for many miles up in the interior. The ground all about there is so forth a hollow sound. Reverberation can be heard everywhere. A footfall may be heard like a sound in a great cavern.

Childish Reading.
The child worships heroes and accepts the printed word as an oracle. Plausible action, for him, is not confined to the four walls of his home or to the street that he knows. And books in the first reading years do not seem to reflect comment upon, or make amends for life. The tale that unwinds from their pages is more real than reality. Never again, for most of us, will come that complete immersion in the atmosphere of a story that is the even mildly intelligent child's inalienable birthright.—Exchange.

DIED SATURDAY
Frank Butare, a Belgian beet worker 36 years of age, died here Saturday following a short illness. The funeral services were held Monday afternoon from St. Mary's Catholic Church and burial was made in the Catholic cemetery.

A device has been invented which, it is claimed, will send the worst case of insomnia to the land of nod in a few minutes. The machine, which in appearance is rather complicated, consists of a number of discs which, when the starting handle is moved, rotate in opposite directions. All that the sufferer has to do is to keep his eyes on the discs as they turn, until after a short spell of watching he gradually sinks into a sound sleep.
